

LANGSTANE HOUSING ASSOCIATION

ANTI-SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR POLICY

1. AIMS

Langstane Housing Association aims to improve the quality of life for tenants by creating and maintaining sustainable communities in which anti-social behaviour is unacceptable.

A balanced organisational strategy has been developed to integrate anti-social behaviour issues into all levels of management within the organisation. Strategic level partnerships have been established with Local Authorities with the aim of exploring options to provide support to families threatened with evictions or who have been evicted due to anti-social behaviour, in line with Local Homelessness Strategies.

The Association is committed to resolving anti-social behaviour issues through mediation, conflict resolution and resettlement. The Association is an active participating member on the Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire, and Moray Anti-Social Behaviour, Information Sharing Groups at which possible Anti-Social Behaviour Order response options are explored. Langstane Association cases will only be taken to those as and when preventative and management interventions have either failed or are considered inappropriate. The use of appropriate legal action including anti-social behaviour orders will only be used when preventative and management approaches have failed.

The Association defines anti-social behaviour in line with definitions contained within the Scottish Secure Tenancy Agreement and the Crime & Disorder Legislation of 1998, ie. "anti-social" means causing or likely to cause harm, distress, nuisance, or annoyance to any person, or causing damage to anyone's property. Harassment of a person includes causing the person alarm or distress. Conduct includes speech. A course of conduct must involve conduct on a least 2 occasions.

3. PROCEDURES

The Association receives a wide range of complaints, and they are dealt with by the staff after an initial classification process. All cases which are of an Anti Social nature are covered by this policy. The remaining complaints are covered by the Neighbourhood Complaints Policy.

The Association will ensure that procedures are in place to respond timeously and appropriately to complaints of anti-social behaviour and further to ensure that any damage caused by anti-social behaviour is dealt with within agreed timescales.

As the Association is committed to preventing anti-social behaviour staff will explain the terms of the tenancy agreement that apply to anti-social behaviour and discuss acceptable conduct with tenants as part of the pre-tenancy process.

The Anti-Social Behaviour Procedures will inform, and be informed by other procedures, for example, the allocations process and the repairs process.

Procedures to be followed by staff are held both on paper and computer format. The tenants' responsibilities and rights in relation to anti-social behaviour are contained clearly in the Tenancy Agreement and the Tenants Handbook.
